

Good Day Everyone!

I have decided to do a small newsletter type pdf attachment instead of an email, let's see how this works! By having a pdf, Tom can add it to the website and it can be downloaded as opposed to my emails needing to be reformatted. Let's all thank Tom for his incredible work on the website, as well as hosting all our zoom meetings – we would not be the club we are without volunteers like Tom!

With that said, there is a new sign up button on our website. If you subscribe on this button, you will be notified every time there is a change to the site, this will include Turner of the Month updates, new items for sale being posted, dates for upcoming events etc., please click and add your email if this is something that would interest you.

We have our first skills zoom meeting this Thursday April 22 at 7pm, I have already received a couple of questions for assistance with some situations, thanks to Juanita's email on Sunday – please email me at president@wgo.ca if you have any woodturning or woodworking questions you may have, we will do our best to answer them this Thursday. We have posted Richard Pikul's Sandpaper 101 on the website, this will be our main discussion for this week.

If there are any members here that do some gardening, this month's turning suggestion is a dibber. It is a gardening tool that allows you to poke holes in the ground for planting of bulbs or seeds. Mine is now 8 years old, used every spring when planting my veggie garden and in the fall, when planting my tulip & garlic bulbs. This is also something that, if you are so inclined, would sell well on local social media groups, especially now that everyone is gardening! A quick $15-$20 ☺

On another note, I received my flyer/catalogue from Lee Valley this week, but this time it is a Woodworkers Resource Guild. I am not sure if they are doing this as a new marketing tool, but they have focused on Sharpening by Hand. It has the options to purchase the various items, but it is a handy resource – something I had previously only seen handed out at the wood shows.

If you have purchased from Lee Valley in the past, I am sure you received this, if not give them a call to get on their mailing list: 1-800-267-8767

Until next week....
With the cost of wood, we should all have a Pinocchio!
